'MY NAME IS TAMARA"

"My name is Sharifa Faribash — but here in Israel I will be called Tamara." These were the first words of the slim, good-looking, dark-haired and dark-eyed, well but plainly the being held in trust by the TO CONDUCT SURVEY dressed girl who arrived on Monday, December 12, 1960, at Chase Manhattan Bank in New Lydda airport from Teheran and who is the hundred-| Yerk as Interest on State of Israel | thousandth child to be accepted by Youth Aliyah since its Bonds All Israel Bond holders are inception on February 19, 1934.

In simple Hebrew words Tamara Farlbash answers quietly the many about 30 souls; the sanitary condiquestions fired at her.

"Yes, I was born at Teheran and I am 12 years old, eor nearly . . . "

"Hebrew? Oh, I learned some at the school of "Otzar Hatorah" and her older brothers are working, Mrs. W. Margolus transit camp at Teheran . . ."

"My father? He is a mechanic and repairs sewing machines . . . And I have five brothers and two sisters. My oldest sister is married and lives in Tel Aviv. And two of my brothers are also here in Israel, one is already a soldler and the other works as a tractor driver. And my parents will also come to Israel with my other brothers and my little sister Edna . .

"When? Oh, perhaps in a year or two . . . My schoolfriend came to Israel some months ago and she wrote me all about Youth Aliyah and the camp at Ramat Hadassah-Szold and the Kibbutz Ma'agan Michael where she learns now . . . and I want to Join her there and
